

Time for tea.

What we do

- We regularly attend Living History events the length and breadth of the country. Rock of Ages, Beamish, Tanfield Railway, Wartime Experience, East Fortune, Edinburgh Castle to name but a few.
- Digging In WW1 trench project, Pollok Park, Glasgow. We were proud to take part in this living history project. We are proud to support Poppy Scotland and other Forces charities at public events.
- Remembrance events.

Who We Are

About Us

Scots in the Great War is a living history group dedicated to the memory, study and appreciation of not only the military, but also the political, economic and social forces that shaped Scotland during and just after the Great War.

Following the lives of soldiers, nurses, factory workers, ship builders and more, we make it our mission to bring this important part of Scotland's history to life.

Contact Us

Twitter @WW1Lowlands

Email: scotsinthegreatwar@gmail.com

Web: scotsinthegreatwar.com

SCOTS IN THE GREAT WAR

Living History Group "Where History comes alive."

Sampling the corned beef hash

How to get involved

Recruitment

If you are a living historian, and are interested in joining us to represent an individual from the Great War, be it British, German, or Civilian then why not have a look at our website, then drop us a line?

Twitter @WW1Lowlands

Email: scotsinthegreatwar@gmail.com

Web: scotsinthegreatwar.com

What will I see at your events

Lots of things WW1 related, from uniforms and weapons, to camp equipment, photos, cap badges and much more. And most importantly you can chat with our 'guys n gals' who'll happily answer your questions.

"An amazing family day out learning all about Great War history at same time."

Hands on history

We believe in getting people involved, whether it be handling items, taking part in demonstrations, watching an arena display or simply asking questions – "Where history comes to life" is our aim.

Can you come to an event I'm running?

Yes, that is possible, other commitments permitting. We have supported many Local History events over the years.

You can't beat hands on history

SCOTS IN THE GREAT WAR

Living History Group "Where History comes alive."